

This action arises from the project "Let it hAPYN" which has received funding from the European Union in the framework of the Health Programme.

Welcome to the 2nd stage of the Let it hAPYN project!

After half a year full of statistics and literature reviewing, here we are - putting theory in practice!

In the last months we have been emerged in tons of literature making youth organizations' jobs on alcohol and alcohol-related topics easier. We have been searching for what works and what doesn't in the prevention and reduction of alcohol related harm and trying to present it in an easy and not too much complicated words of youth and youth organizations. Knowing that alcohol abuse among young people in Europe is higher than anywhere else in the world, we believe that the approach to them should be specific and adapted to the target audience. With the help of the Institute Utrip from Slovenia who made the list of current alcohol-related projects in youth organizations in Europe and the literature review on promising and best practices as well as non-working and harmful practices, we are now preparing three trainings what will happen in late summer 2014 in Amsterdam, the Netherlands.

Stay tuned for more information about the training over www.apyn.org :)

Institute Utrip, one of the Associated partners of the Let it hAPYN project has just published the report entitled "Engagement of youth organisations in prevention interventions in the field of alcohol policy" that will serve the youth organizations and other NGOs working on prevention and reduction of alcohol-related harm as a anchor document in their future work. Check the report here.

Under Let it hAPYN! we just launched the call for the training "Empowering Youth Organizations in the Field of Alcohol" which is mostly led by STAP - the Dutch Institute for Alcohol Policy and APYN. The training will focus on youth research and law enforcement, how to lead consultations on alcohol policy and evidence-based alcohol interventions programs. See the call here.

Institute for Research and Development "Utrip" (UTRIP) is a non-governmental and a non-profit research institute. UTRIP aims to conduct research, develop, implement, monitor and evaluate the projects and programmes in the field of youth risk behaviour, addiction prevention, health promotion and healthy lifestyle. Read more about their work here.

Read more about the Let it hAPYN program by clicking here.

Join the Alcohol Policy Youth Network!

APYNetwork

APYN.org

APYN.org

info@apyn.org

Copyright © 2015 Alcohol Policy Youth Network, All rights reserved.

This newsletter was possible due to the European Commission Funding under the Health 2.0 Programme

Our mailing address is:

info@apyn.org

unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences

MailChimp